

Choices, choices!

Parents/Guardians,

As a class, we have been learning in economics about “opportunity costs”. Your child has learned that when they have to choose between two things the thing they didn’t choose is their “opportunity cost”. Please help your child record their choices until bedtime. You will see from the chart below that they need to write what they chose in one column and then write what they didn’t choose beside it in the next column. You may need to help your child with the writing and they will most certainly get more out of the assignment if you discuss their choices with them (i.e. whether or not their choice was a good one and why, or if they could’ve made a better choice and why). Feel free to record behavioral choices as well. Thank you.
